Carries Explorer III

Army Fires Jupiter C

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A bullet-nosed satellite, third moon in the U. S. space family, was hurled into the sky today in a flame-gushing Army Jupiter-C missile.

Announcement of whether an orbit had been achieved would come from Washington within a couple of hours. But within a few minutes after the 11:38 a.m. e.s.t. launching the strong, piercing radio signals from Explorer III were intercepted by RCA receivers in Riverhead, N. Y.

All the stages apparently fired normally, a statement said a few minutes after the big rocket tore up from the Florida sands.

Tracking stations began picking up the satellite's voice, including the Army Signal Corps Radio at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., which heard it as a steady wave.

The firing, which went off perfectly and almost exactly on schedule, was delayed a few minutes to allow Army's Explorer I and Navy's Vanguard I to zip across the heavens over the missile firing center here.

Some of the foremost men of the American space experiments were on hand to watch the launching, which came on a cloudy day that obscured the hurtling Jupiter within 30 seconds after it burst from its launching pad.

The satellite weighed 30 pounds and was shaped like a pencil. It was 80 inches long, including the empty shell of the last rocket which gave it the critical boost to the 18,000 mile an hour velocity necessary to put it into orbit.

It was packed with scientific instruments to send back data over two radio transmitters about cosmic ray and micro-meteorite activity at the edge of the atmosphere, and temperatures inside and outside of the satellite. It included a hand-sized tape recorder which could store information during the flight through space and send it to a ground station on command.

Only difference between Explorer III and Explorer II is removal of the four prong-like antennae from today's satellite. The satellite itself was to act as the transmitting antenna.

Run Out of Gas Near Shore

Five Killed as Rented Plane Lands In Ocean While On Sightseeing Trip

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—A rented plane carrying four adults and two children on a carefree sightseeing trip crash-landed in the ocean less than three miles offshore Tuesday night. The single survivor charged that an airport crew in Nassau failed to refuel the plane.

The plane ran out of gas within sight of shore and the pilot "made a beautiful landing on the water," according to Floyd F. Scites, 34, of East Detroit, who was picked up by a boat shortly after the accident.

But there were no lifejackets aboard, Scites said, and the other five passengers apparently drowned. All five bodies were recovered.

Scites identified the victims as his wife, Delores, 31; their only daughter, 18-month-old Deborah; Hugh Wilkison, 32, a cousin of Mrs. Scites from Dania, Fla.; Wilkison's wife, Patricia, and their son, Dana, 7. Wilkison was a veteran airline pilot, according to Scites.

The party had rented the single engine Mooney Mite at the Fort Lauderdale Airport and had taken off for a visit to Nassau.

The group had ordered airport attendants to refuel the plane before going on a tour of the island,

Scites said. "We assumed that the plane had been refueled when we left."

A short time after leaving Nassau Wilkison expressed surprise that one of the fuel tanks was empty and switched back to the other.

"I told him, 'If you think we can't make it, let's turn back,'" Scites related. But Wilkison said he thought there was enough fuel to complete the cross-water hop and they continued.

A half hour after the crash a fishing party spotted the passengers in the water and took them aboard. The five victims were pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

Mitchell Low Bidder on School

Will Be Built For Independence Consolidated District

The H. E. Mitchell Construction Co. of Harrisburg submitted low bids for construction of a brick school building for the Independence Community Consolidated grade school district at the intersections of Routes 145 and 34 in Independence township.

The Mitchell base bid was $67,310, the alternate bid $81,249, and indications were that the more inclusive alternate bid would be accepted. The district's board of education, which opened the bids last night, will hold a special meeting next Tuesday night, at which time contracts are scheduled to be awarded.

The Doty Plumbing and Heating Co. of Benton submitted a low bid of $15,245 for plumbing and heating and Sutton Electric Co. of Eldorado a low bid of $7,300 for wiring.

Bidding was on construction of a one-story brick school building with six classrooms, a small gymnasium and a cafeteria on a five-acre tract of land.

With the low bids totalling $103,794, it was learned that a total of $117,000 will be spent altogether, the remainder being for installing a kitchen and for furnishing the entire building.

Unemployment Up in Illinois

CHICAGO (AP)—Unemployment in Illinois increased by 5,332 during the week ending March 15, the state Labor Department reported today.

The number of unemployed reached a total of 198,399 during the period. Unemployment had declined in the state during the previous two weeks.

For the week ending March 8, the number of applicants for unemployment compensation had dropped to 183,067, a decrease of 7.7 per cent from the March 1 figure.

The record number of applicants is 227,094 for the week ending April 23, 1949.

A spokesman for the Labor Department blamed the increase on continued small layoffs in basic industries downstate.

Probably Including Russians

Eisenhower Announces Foreigners Will Be Invited to Nuclear Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower announced today that foreigners, probably including Russians, will be invited to witness a U. S. nuclear test "in which radioactive fallout will be drastically reduced."

The test will be one of a series starting next month at the Eniwetok-Bikini proving ground in the Pacific.

The President said American scientists have been making progress in reducing radioactive fallout from nuclear explosions "in the hope and belief that basic advances in both the peaceful and military uses of nuclear energy will thus be achieved."

"The advantages to mankind of continued progress in this field are obvious," he said.

The President also: —Reiterated that any East-West summit meeting with Russia must be carefully prepared in advance. Asked why the Russians talk about a summit meeting with such "urgency," the President said they believe they are convincing the world they really want peace and that any East-West agreements would be sound and enforceable. The United States, he said, wishes to be conciliatory. But it will not get into the position of appearing to accept every point the Soviets are making in discussions of a summit meeting.

—Said he has no fears about what Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev would do for propaganda reasons if he came to the United States for a summit parley. The President said he has not changed his views that it might be better to hold a summit conference in the United States if it were to last a long time. Although the President did not say so, administration officials are known to favor Geneva as a conference site.

—Sounded a new and warm note of confidence in Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He said again that he believes Dulles is the best informed and wisest man in the field of foreign affairs. A reporter had asked if there are any differences between him and Dulles.

Will Provide 75,000 Jobs

State to Speed Public Works To Combat Illinois Unemployment

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The state government moved today to speed up already authorized public works projects totaling 660 million dollars in a program expected to provide 75,000 new jobs in Illinois this year.

Gov. Stratton and top state officials met here Tuesday to discuss ways in which the public works scheduled may be stepped up in an attempt to combat unemployment. The figures in the total program were announced by an aide to the governor after the meeting.

The public works projects all have been authorized by the state Legislature and the money appropriated for them or obtained from bond sales for the toll highway program. In addition to the projected speed-up in public works projects Stratton also ordered a stepup in state purchasing.

He directed that a survey be made of the state's requirements through next year for new automobiles and other vehicles, and indicated that as many as possible will be purchased this year.

But most of the speedup program outlined to reduce unemployment will come under the state highway and toll road projects. The highway program alone was expected to absorb about 20 per cent of the unemployed in the Chicago metropolitan area within the next few weeks when the construction season opens, Stratton's spokesman said.

The unemployment picture was beginning to brighten somewhat even as Stratton called the meeting here. Figures showed a drop of 15,183 in unemployment compensation claims for the week ended March 8.

Stratton's aide provided the following breakdown of the money to be spent on public works this year and the number of jobs to be created:

Highways: Overall, on state construction projects and county, township and road district projects which the state will seek to expedite, total employment for the year is expected to hit 60,000. Of this, about 50,000 will be new jobs which will open up gradually as the construction season gets underway.

Within 90 days the state Highway Division will have 150 million dollars worth of work under contract, and the total is expected to hit 215 million dollars for the year. In addition, the state is hopeful that legislation now before Congress will provide another 50 million dollars for interstate highway work this year.

Also, Chief Highway Engineer Ralph Bartelsmeyer told the meeting that the state expects to make a total of 95 million dollars available this year to townships.

Eisenhower to Veto Farm Bill

Will Take Action

Despite Vote by GOP Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration source said today President Eisenhower will veto the Democratic-sponsored farm bill, "probably this week," despite an unusual 17-14 vote by the Senate Republican conference urging him to sign it.

The veto message "is now being written," this source said.

The bill would cancel Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's plans to lower farm price supports this year. There is little chance of a two-thirds majority being mustered in either Senate or House to override the veto.

Farm bloc senators said Tuesday's vote at the closed GOP conference was a warning to the President that a veto would bring on political hardships for Republican candidates in farm areas and trouble for the administration's program in Congress.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland said the vote, which was not formally announced, would be reported to the White House. He pointed out that 15 of the 46 Senate Republicans were not recorded on the vote.

AFL-CIO President George Meany meanwhile, also urged the President to accept the farm freeze.

"Any further drop in farmers' income at this time would still further depress our present faltering economy," Meany said.

Says He Will Not Be Panicked Into Tax Cuts

Urges Americans To Buy On Basis of What Products Worth

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today there are indications that the nation is near or at the bottom of the recession. The President told a news conference he feels the nation is going through the worst of the economic slump right now.

He also repeated his firm stand that he will not be panicked into proposing a tax cut. He said that serious consideration must be given to the future effects of a tax cut rather than merely the immediate benefits.

The President refused to say whether he believes a cut in auto excise taxes, if there should be one, should be retroactive. He urged Americans to buy U. S. industrial products on the basis of what they are worth and when they believe they are getting a bargain rather than worrying about the possibility it might be cheaper later.

In other news conference highlights, the President:

—Announced that the United Nations will be invited to select a group of qualified scientific observers to witness a large U. S. nuclear explosion in the Pacific this summer. The world observers probably including Russians, will be invited to see for themselves the progress this country is making in reducing radioactive fallout.

—Said that he soon will make public a comprehensive report by his scientific advisory committee on outer space. He asked that all news media give the report, titled "Introduction to Outer Space," the widest possible dissemination.

—Disclosed that he soon will send to Congress legislation calling for civilian control of civilian outer space programs.

Won't Be Stampeded
—Said he believes better ways ought to be found to distribute surplus foods to the needy. But he flatly rejected the so-called Brannan Plan which calls for federal subsidies toward the retail prices. He said he would act soon on it. He is expected to veto it.

As for a possible tax cut, the President said he never has excluded the possibility that a cut would be desirable if the economic situation worsens. But he said that every thoughtful person, including both Democratic and Republican leaders, holds the view that it would be a serious step in the light of the growing federal spending.

For this reason, he said, it is not something to do lightly and the administration is not going to be stampeded into it.

He emphasized that serious consideration must be given to the effects of a tax cut on the national economy in future years.

He said the administration is not going to cut taxes or take any other anti-recession measure considered to be unwise.

The President was emphatic in reiterating his position that the American people must not depend on Washington as the sole source of help in solving difficulties growing out of the recession. He said states also must share in the responsibility.

He said one purpose of his program to extend the period of payment of unemployment compensation benefits is to take part of the burden off states so they can do more in taking care of relief cases and other ways such as distribution of food.

Perils of Atom Test Ban

Editorial - BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The vocal clamor that surrounds nearly every major issue in America often obscures more truth than it reveals.

Right now a debate is raging among top scientists on the question whether or not nuclear tests can be conducted in secret. Obviously a determination on this point is vital in considering a proposed ban on tests.

But long before there was any public hint that it might be possible to hide nuclear tests, many key men were arguing against a test ban on totally different grounds.

They contended, and still do, that there is this danger:

The Soviet Union, having signed a ban agreement, could go on preparing for further tests. There seems to be little question that such preparatory work can be conducted in secret. When ready, they could launch a test in violation of the ban.

Under this argument, it is assumed we would know about it. But, having ourselves honestly observed the test prohibition, we would not have made preparations to resume nuclear experiments. According to this view, we would at that point be severely and perhaps critically handicapped in matching or surpassing possible Soviet nuclear advances gained through new tests.

Others think, of course, that we would not be thus trapped, that we could in fact make up any lost time if the Russians suddenly pulled a test while we were "sitting by."

Up to now the fear that we would be handicapped has been one of the decisive factors in our refusal to accept a test ban.

The thing to remember is that we must still be satisfied on this point, even if it should be demonstrated conclusively that tests cannot be held in secret.

In other words, we must not imagine that the feasibility of the test ban idea stands or falls on the secrecy issue. It did not before, and there is no reason why it should now.

It would mean little to be able to detect nuclear tests if after agreeing to a ban the Soviet Union should spring surprise experiments that might gravely compromise our national safety. Free world proponents of the ban must show impressively—if they can—that such a peril does not exist.

Alaska was sold to the United States by Russia on March 30, 1867, for $7,200,000 in gold.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Sam Rayburn makes unusual appearance before Congressional Committee; He asks pension for Harry Truman and Herbert Hoover; Army band gripes at playing before Republican Party.

WASHINGTON. — For the first time in many years, 76-year-old Speaker Sam Rayburn last week appeared as a witness before a congressional committee. He did it for an old friend, 73-year-old Harry S. Truman of Missouri.

Testifying with Sam in a rare display of nonpartisanship was the 73-year-old Republican leader and ex-speaker, Joe Martin of Massachusetts.

Rayburn and Martin agreed that ex-presidents of the United States ought to get pensions, just like employees of corporations and members of Congress. They urged the House Civil Service committee, headed by testy Tom Murray of Tennessee, to approve the presidential pension bill of Democratic Leader John McCormack.

McCormack's bill would give ex-presidents Herbert Hoover and Harry Truman a pension of $25,000 a year, plus free mailing privileges, plus office space in a federal building, and an allowance of about $70,000 to hire stenographers, which is the same as that paid a senator from one of the least populous states.

In addition, the widow of an ex-president would get a $10,000-a-year pension after his death.

"This is the first time in four or five years that I've appeared before a committee as a witness," Rayburn told the assembled congressmen. He had already forced Chairman Murray, who was trying to block the pension bill, into calling a meeting. Murray finally called the meeting, but conveniently overlooked informing members of the committee that it was called. Despite this, all members showed up.

Rep. Hugh Gross (R., Iowa) remained unconvinced.

"No man who's been president of the United States ought to have any trouble making a living," Gross insisted. "All this means is that some more money will come out of the U. S. Treasury."

Rayburn reminded Gross that all Truman owned upon retirement was home, and that even FDR had no independent means until his mother died.

Rep. August Johansen (R., Mich.) agreed with Gross. So did Reps. Ed Robeson (D., Va.) and Jim Davis (D., Ga.).

"I suggest that we raise the amount of the pension to $37,500," said Robeson sarcastically.

Rayburn, however, argued strongly for the ex-presidents. He pointed out that the legislation had been passed by the Senate a year ago and had lain mouldering in the House for two years.

"It's the dignity of the office of president that's involved here," said Mr. Sam. "Our big corporations all provide for their presidents and employees, and the U. S. government is the biggest corporation of all. We shouldn't force our ex-presidents to go out and do all kind of mean things in order to make a living. We have to protect the dignity of the office."

McCormack reminded Gross that Herbert Hoover would also be eligible, though actually he doesn't need it. Hoover is a millionaire. President Eisenhower made around $500,000 a year by a special tax ruling on his book.

"It's a matter of simple justice," said McCormack.

In the end the committee agreed to discuss the matter again on March 27. And in view of the urging by Rayburn and Martin, it looked as if the legislation would finally reach the House floor for a vote.

Seven Army band musicians are burnt up over having to supply soft string music for three hours for a Republican reception at Fort McNair—despite Army rules to the contrary. Members of Congress can reserve the officers' clubs at Fort McNair and Fort Myer and have music supplied by the Army band, but regulations forbid using this privilege for commercial or political purposes.

The Fort McNair gathering was a New Hampshire affair featuring the GOP senators and congressmen from that state; Mrs. Lane Dwinell, wife of the governor; and other ladies in Washington for the 6th annual Conference of Republican Women. Guest of honor was popular, potent Sen. Styles Bridges, dean of Senate Republicans who, as a member of both the Armed Services and Appropriations committees, has a lot of power at the Pentagon.

Bridges made a partisan speech in which he advised New Hampshire Republicans how to deal with critics of the Eisenhower recession.

"Tell them the only way the Democrats know to cure a recession is through war," he recommended.

He also told a story about three sailors who rescued Harry Truman after he fell off his yacht. Asked by Truman what they wanted as rewards, the first sailor said a West Point appointment, the second sailor said an Annapolis appointment, and the third sailor said a funeral.

"Why do you want a funeral?" Truman asked the third sailor. "Because that's what I'd need after I get home, the third sailor told the man he had saved."

Note—Congressman Charlie Porter, the Oregon Democrat, is writing Bridges, asking him to pay the seven musicians their usual rate of $3 an hour, or a total of $63, or else pay them the union rate for supplying music at a private political party.

Raley-Gillespie Marriage Vows Exchanged at McKinley Baptist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gillespie

In an impressive double-ring ceremony at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, March 22, Miss Laura Raley of Harrisburg became the bride of Glenn Gillespie of New Burnside.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Florence Raley, 716 West Parish street, and the late James Raley. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. E. E. Gillespie of New Burnside.

The Rev. Charles Raley of Evansville, Ind., who is the bride's brother, read the marriage vows at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The wedding party stood before an archway entwined with huckleberry, which decorated the all-white altar. Jade and evergreen palms completed the altar decorations.

Mrs. Robert S. Keltner, church organist, played a quarter-hour of wedding selections preceding the ceremony and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Donald Young of Carbondale, cousin of the bride, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Through the Years." Mrs. Keltner also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by D. H. Hiller, wore a white ball-length gown of nylon lace fashioned with square neckline, huge bow in back at the waistline and long sleeves pointed at the hands. The full gathered skirt had a pleated nylon net insert in front and ruffled net underskirt. Her finger-tip veil of tulle was secured by a half-hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of white snow-drift chrysanthemums and a white Japanese Iris entwined with silver.

Miss Peggy Jo Raley of Detroit, the bride's youngest sister, was maid of honor. Her gown was of tangerine crystal with velvet cummerbund, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pastel blue majestic daisies with satin streamers.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Wayne Reed of Harrisburg. Ushers were William Shell of Brookfield, brother-in-law of the bride, Charles Heine of Metropolis, Norman Pickford and Grover Fulkerson of Harrisburg.

The bride's mother chose for her daughter's wedding a black sheath dress with black and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray ensemble, and her attire as well as that of the bride's mother was complemented with a white gardenia corsage.

A reception, which was in charge of Mrs. D. H. Hiller, was held in the church dining room following the ceremony. The bride's table laid in white and decorated with lighted tapers in milk-glass holders was centered with an all-white wedding cake topped with white wedding bell. The cake was encircled with tangerine and white gladioli and greenery. Mrs. Louise LaBaw of Chicago and Miss Margaret Gillespie of East St. Louis, sister of the bridegroom, served the cake. Punch, in milk-glass punch bowls at either end of the table, was poured by Mrs. Robert Tate of Detroit and Mrs. William Shell, sisters of the bride. At the guest register was Mrs. Charles Raley. Mrs. Doyle Hedger, church pianist, played nuptial music throughout the reception.

The couple left following the reception for a wedding trip to New Orleans. On March 30 they will be at home in the Harker Miley apartments at the corner of Lincoln and Main streets, Harrisburg.

Mrs. Gillespie, a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school, will continue her employment as senior clerk for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Mr. Gillespie graduated from the Vienna high school and is now employed as a chemical engineer for Carbide Chemical and Nuclear at Paducah.

Among those at the wedding from out-of-town besides the ones already mentioned were Mrs. Charles Heine and children, the children of Rev. and Mrs. Raley, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Noonan of Wood River, and Donald Young.

Betty Schwartz, Rudy Golish
United in March Church Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Golish

Miss Betty Schwartz daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Schwartz, 715 West Pine street, Harrisburg, and Rudy Golish, son of Mrs. M. S. Golish and the late Mr. Golish, also of Harrisburg, were married in the First Christian church of Harrisburg on March 14 by the Rev. Glen Daugherty, pastor of the church.

Miss Schwartz wore a navy blue sheath dress with white accessories, complemented by her corsage of valley lilies and white carnations entwined with silver and white satin ribbons.

Mrs. Joe (Shirley) Hull, cousin of the bride, was her attendant and wore a pink suit with pink accessories for the wedding. Her corsage was of valley lilies and pink carnations secured with silver and satin ribbons.

Paul Golish, brother of the bridegroom, acted as his best man.

There was a reception and buffet supper in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Golish, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, immediately following the wedding, for close friends and relatives of the families.

Mr. and Mrs. Golish motored to Paducah, Ky., for a brief honeymoon and while there visited Mr. and Mrs. Loren R. Jones, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom.

The bride was graduated from ITHS and has been employed at the Sangamo Electric company in Marion.

Mr. Golish, also a graduate of ITHS, is affiliated with the Mitchell Golish Music company and the Golish Cigarette Machine company of Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Golish will be at home to their friends at 712 South Ledford street soon, when work on their apartment has been completed.

Shower and Charivari Held for Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shewmaker

Hosts of their neighbors, relatives and friends came from far and near to bring gifts and celebrate their recent marriage. There were ice cream cups, candies of all descriptions, apples, cigars and a variety of foods and favors.

Mr. and Mrs. Shewmaker were congratulated, made the victims of charivari tricks and there was a general spirit of merrymaking throughout the evening. They opened many gifts from those present and from others who sent gifts and best wishes although they could not be present.

Key Economists and Nixon Favor Price Cuts to End Recession

Editor's note: Some top government economists whose views weigh heavily with the administration believe price cuts may be one key to ending the recession. This view is shared by Vice President Nixon. The opinions, gathered in a number of conversations, are summarized by United Press reporter Merriam Smith in the following dispatch.

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Some key government economists believe lower prices would give the economy a stronger shot-in-the-arm than a tax cut.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon also feels a "buyers' market," brought about by price cuts, is necessary to reopen the road to recovery.

This new approach by persons in or close to the administration does not rule out a tax cut. Some top administration financial and political advisers regard a tax cut as inevitable this year. Their only question is when and what kind.

But one official who plays a prominent role in shaping government economic policy called prices "the key to the recession." No Pat Answers

"They've got to come down—tax cut or no tax cut," he told the United Press.

These economists have no pat answer to the question of how to bring prices down. The government's cost-of-living index hit an other record high last month.

Some prominent business figures, who agree prices should come down, likewise seem to have little answer other than to suggest some sort of "understanding" between labor and management to avoid another inflationary spiral.

Nixon believes all levels of business must engage in a big selling program, lowering prices and competing for the consumer's dollar. He thinks labor should help management in this program by taking it easy on wage demands.

Limit On Cuts

The vice president admits there is a limit to how low sellers can cut prices. He does not take the position there should be no wage increases this year, but contends these should be related to increased productivity lest the result be more inflation.

Liz Returns to Hollywood After Attending Funeral for Mike Todd

Sobs Throughout Ceremony, Ignores Disturbances

HOLLYWOOD (CP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor rested in seclusion today, away from the spotlight where she said her public goodbye to Mike Todd.

The dark-haired film star returned home Tuesday night from Todd's Chicago funeral, ending a 24-hour ordeal of travel across the nation and back and the strain of the graveside rites.

A family squabble and 5,000 curious onlookers spoiled plans of Todd's family for a simple, dignified ceremony, devoid of the carnival-like Todd loved in life.

Miss Taylor ignored the disturbances in her grief. She staggered three times entering the tent which covered Todd's grave at the foot of his father's resting place, and sobbed throughout the 35-minute ceremony with courage.

"No... No..." she cried when she saw the coffin, and was led away to sit down.

Those who witnessed the rites, conducted by Rabbi Abraham Joseph, denied that the 26-year-old widow threw herself on Todd's coffin and screamed.

Rather, they said, she touched the bronze casket at the end of the ceremony and said "I love you, Mike."

Six hours later she was aboard a plane bound for home, along with her doctor, Rexford Kennamer, singer Eddie Fisher, Todd's son, Mike Jr. and his wife.

Behind her left all that remained of her flamboyant husband who in 50 years rose from the streets of Chicago and the name of Avram Goldbogen to be Mike Todd, showman extraordinary high roller, who died in a New Mexico plane crash last Saturday as he had lived — spectacularly.

Todd's executive secretary Richard Hanley denied on arrival here he had provoked a graveside argument with Carl Goldbogen, the famed producer's 61-year-old brother.

Hanley said he had no idea what Goldbogen was talking about. Reporters listening outside the tent which covered Todd's grave overheard Goldbogen say in an apparent reference to Hanley: "He's a dirty hypocrite. Take that guy away from me. He wants to sock me. Throw me out if you want to. I'm only the poor Carl and I'm not ashamed of it."

He was quieted by his brothers, Frank and David.

Carl told United Press he had a falling out with Hanley at a party following the premiere of Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days" in Los Angeles Dec. 22, 1956.

At that time, Goldbogen said, he told Hanley he liked the money-making film so much he and his wife would like to see it again. Hanley told him there would be no free tickets, Carl said.

See Congress Approval Jobless Pay Extension

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite vigorous opposition from employer groups, Congress appeared headed today toward approval of an unprecedented extension in duration of unemployment benefits.

Key lawmakers figure the final product will be a compromise between the half-billion-dollar program recommended by President Eisenhower Tuesday and the billion-dollar program of House Democratic leaders. Final action will probably take a month or more.

The President Tuesday recommended a 50 per cent increase in duration of jobless payments which vary among states from 6 to 30 weeks and average 20 weeks. The Democratic plan would provide a straight 16-week extension with generally increased payment rates.

Under the President's program, the federal government would be repaid later by an increase in taxes paid by employers to the federal government for costs of administering the jobless pay program. The increase would be from .3 per cent of payrolls employers now pay to .45 per cent. States which did not want to hike employer taxes could instead repay the federal government either by direct appropriations or transfers from state credits in the unemployment trust fund.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) who has introduced a more liberal bill to boost jobless benefits, said the Eisenhower plan would "do little" and expressed hope Congress will pass "something more substantial."

Predicts Senate Changes in Military Pay Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A key Senate Democrat said today a House-passed military pay raise bill does not go far enough toward providing incentive pay in contrast to length-of-service raises.

Sen. John C. Stennis (D-Miss.), chairman of a Senate subcommittee handling military pay legislation, predicted the Senate will put more incentive features in the bill. A compromise then would have to be worked out between House and Senate versions.

Stennis also indicated his subcommittee will not act on the measure, passed by the House Tuesday, until after the congressional Easter recess.

Stennis told the United Press he feels a military pay raise, requested by President Eisenhower and certain to pass Congress in some form, should follow more closely the Cordier report.

This report, made for the Defense Department last year by a special committee headed by industrialist Ralph J. Cordier, recommended doing away completely with raises based solely on length-of-service. The House bill would retain length-of-service pay to some extent.

The House bill, approved by an overwhelming 366-22 vote, is the first raise for military personnel since 1955. It would provide pay boosts averaging 8.4 per cent for enlisted men and 12.4 per cent for officers, ranging up to 53 per cent for some four-star generals. Most privates, seamen and newly commissioned second lieutenants would get no increase.

The measure, tailored to halt the flow of badly needed skilled personnel back to civilian life, was rushed through despite scattered objections that it favored top brass over lower ranks. Its total annual cost is estimated at $668,379,000.

Annual Film Awards Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movietown busied itself with last-minute preparations today in anticipation of tonight's 30th annual Academy Award presentations.

For one hour and 45 minutes Hollywood's stars will be displayed on a nation-wide telecast, many making their TV debuts.

In all some 90 luminaries will take part in the festivities. For the first time since the advent of TV, the show will be sponsored by the motion picture industry. Producer Jerry Wald proudly points out there will be no commercials to interfere with the awards. "It's more than a formal ceremony," Wald said. "We're putting on a regular three-ring circus of a show with dancers, singers, laughs and drama. There's plenty of drama in announcing the winners."

Beaming on NBC-TV at 9:30 c.s.t., the star-studded program boasts five emcees—David Niven, Bob Hope, Rosalind Russell, James Stewart and Jack Lemmon.

Shawnee Division of Illinois Police Ass'n Holds Dinner Meeting

The Shawnee Division of the Illinois Police Association held its regular monthly dinner meeting at the Elks lodge dining room in Harrisburg last night with 115 city, county and state law-enforcement officers from southern Illinois attending.

A dinner of catfish, French fried potatoes and salad was served.

Speaker was State Rep. Paul Powell, who spoke of state legislation affecting law-enforcement groups.

Several attendance prizes were given.

The April meeting will be in Cairo.

Question Two Suspects About Paducah Robbery

PADUCAH, Ky. (CP)—Police today questioned two suspects arrested in Illinois about a $7,000 jewelry store robbery here Tuesday.

Howard Wayne Heath and Billy Howard Howell, both 30, of Grand Rivers, Ky., were arrested by Metropolis, Ill., police soon after the robbery of Clements Jewelers by two masked bandits.

Both men denied any connection with the robbery. Samuel J. Clements, owner of the store, identified watches found in the suspects' car as part of the loot.

After robbing the store at gunpoint, the bandits forced a parking attendant to drive them to Illinois where they were arrested by police alerted to watch for them.

First public weather service in America was established at Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1869.

Ready for Hal March's $64,000 Question On Shakespeare

MRS. ARVILLA SHAIN SMITH OF RIDGWAY

A Ridgway woman who has been interested in the works of Shakespeare and other writers of classics since early childhood believes she is sufficiently acquainted with the subject to climb high on the $64,000 question TV program.

And it only requires a short interview with Mrs. Arvilla Shain Smith to be convinced that she is well versed on the works of William Shakespeare.

Also it is well within the realm of possibility that in the not too distant future Mrs. Smith may be called to appear on the show in which Hal March quizzes the contestants.

Several months ago a nephew of the show at the 485 Madison address in New York City and a short time later she was mailed a questionnaire form to be filled out.

Since completing the form and sending it in she has had a telephone conversation with the New York office and was told that her answers in the questionnaire were very impressive and fascinating. She now is on the waiting list but of course has no assurance when or if she will be called.

The prospective contestant has learned, however, that others have had waiting periods as long as two years so isn't exactly discouraged in the fact that she has not as yet had a call.

Mrs. Smith, the former Arvilla Shain, was born and reared in the Hazel Ridge community and completed a year of college work near Indianapolis. She became deeply interested in the writings of Shakespeare while in grade school and at the age of 10 began to read his works.

She is shown in above photo holding the 1200 page book containing all his works which she had read many, many times and is able to quote quite readily from all of the works, poems and his biography as well as give lists of characters.

The 77-year-old who probably would have been rated as a "quiz kid" in her day has always read the classics because she loved them and was deeply interested in them. She was able to answer many of the questions long before the origin of the popular TV quiz program. While other youngsters were reading books that boys and girls ordinarily were interested in, she always preferred the works of Shakespeare, Dickens, Emerson, Mark Twain, etc.

Mrs. Smith, in addition to reading the many classics over and over, found time to read the world's best seller, the Bible, from cover to cover by the time she was 15.

Local residents and organizations recently have taken an added interest in the home town citizen's hopes of making the grade and have mailed letters to the Madison Avenue address urging that she be given a try at the big money.

Questioned as to how difficult the questions were that others on the program have been confronted with, she modestly replies that she is quite familiar with most of the answers. Although she had no television of her own she often sees the Tuesday night program at the homes of neighbors. As to the possibility of becoming nervous or excited when in the bright lights or isolation booth, Mrs. Smith says that in her many years she has been around people quite a lot and often is called upon at gatherings to give readings or quotations. That part doesn't enter her mind at present, she reveals.

Friends and relatives sometimes ask Mrs. Smith what she would do if she were to be called for the program and succeeded in winning some of the big money. She says she would like to do some extensive traveling and see more of the world.

Stevenson and Collins for the two top spots added the comment that "Kennedy will be a strong contender."

A confident delegate remarked that "Any Democrat will win in 1960 and I don't believe you will elect any other Republican for 20 years until they dig up another Eisenhower."

A less confident delegate listed Kennedy and Meyer for the nominations and added "This does not make me happy."

Another delegate who listed Williams and Kennedy for the nominations said "I would prefer a military man like Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther."

One of the delegates who listed Kennedy and Symington as the likely candidates commented that that order "could be reversed and either way would make a strong ticket."

Symington, Kennedy Mentioned Most Frequently for '60 Demo Nominations

By RAYMOND R. COFFEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
SPRINGFIELD — Sens Stuart Symington of Missouri and John Kennedy of Massachusetts were mentioned most frequently for the 1960 Democratic nominations for president and vice president in a United Press poll of Illinois delegates to the party's 1956 convention.

Unlike a similar poll of Illinois Republican delegates which was dominated by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Stratton, the Democratic delegates mentioned a long list of possibilities for the two nominations.

The delegates were polled on the question: Who do you, at this time, think will win your party's nominations for president and vice president in 1960. About half the delegates replied.

Symington was mentioned on nine of the replies as the likely candidate for president, and Kennedy was listed seven times.

Former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, the twice-defeated candidate and a native son, was listed for president on only three replies. Others gaining mentions as possibilities for the presidential nominations were Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, New York Gov. Averell Harriman, Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Kennedy was listed on 13 replies as the likely candidate for vice president. Symington was listed on three replies for the second spot on the ballot.

Others listed as vice presidential possibilities included Humphrey, Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, Gov. Le Roy Collins of Florida, Sen. George Smathers of Florida, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Meyer and Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington.

One delegate who listed Stevenson and Humphrey as the likely ticket commented: "Stevenson is the best known, his defeats won't hurt; remember Proxmire."

This was an apparent reference to the fact that Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin lost two bids for the governorship before being elected to the Senate.

Another delegate who listed

Village of Energy So Peaceful, Pint Sized Jail Last Used in 1924

By SAM HANCOCK
United Press Staff Correspondent
ENERGY, Ill. — Citizens here have channeled their energy to peaceful pursuits. So much so in fact, that the village's pint-sized jail has been reduced to a conversation piece for more than 30 years.

In pre-prohibition days, the jail—a 16 by 18-foot concrete affair with two cells—was chockfull of drunks and peace breakers.

Now, small fry "marshals" with tin badges and six-shooters clamber over it while playing cowboys and Indians.

Energy was a bawling "wild and woolly" village before prohibition, says Mayor Roy Gentry. Its taverns went out with prohibition and villagers have stubbornly resisted all attempts to re-open them.

"You mention tavern here and you have a fight on your hands," the mayor said.

No Peace Officer

More than half the village's 650 citizens attend church regularly.

Gentry recalls that the jail was last used about 1924 when some gypsies camped outside Energy and one of them, breathing fire-water, wandered into the village and raised a ruckus.

The village doesn't have a marshal or peace officer now. It appointed one briefly two years ago but only to slow down traffic through the village, located two miles south of Herrin on Ill. 148.

"I can't remember the last time we had to call the sheriff because someone was out on hand," said Gentry, "and state troopers have helped us with our speeding problem."

Gentry says many travelers stop and ask about the jail. Most of them inquire why the door isn't locked.

"Some fellow borrowed the lock for his tool chest many years ago and there hasn't been any need to reclaim it," Gentry said.

Name Was Changed

The village board has discussed tearing down the jail or using it for storage, but has hesitated to remove the landmark.

The village was without street lights until two years ago when a tax was imposed. Now it is discussing a sewage system and inquiries have been made about two housing projects.

Energy was named Fordville until coal mines sprang up around the village and the name was changed to match a trade name for coal produced in the mines.

The coal mines are gone now, but the village's name has taken on a new meaning in this rocket age. The Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. makes tests on a high-energy solid propellant for rockets at a site about three miles east of Energy.

Report Bulganin May Be Replaced as Soviet Premier At Meeting of Parliament

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Experts on Russian affairs are reporting that Nikolai A. Bulganin may be replaced as Soviet Premier.

The Supreme Soviet parliament meets in Moscow on Thursday following the parliamentary election of March 16.

It is customary for members of the Soviet government to offer their resignations after an election. Usually, the resignations are a formality and members are re-appointed.

But it is being suggested that Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev, as the No. 1 man on the Soviet collective leadership, may take advantage of the opportunity to pull the rug out from under Bulganin, the No. 2 man.

Might Be Ousted
It has long been suggested that Bulganin might be replaced, and made president of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet—a post corresponding to the president of the West European Republics.

In that event, Bulganin would succeed Klementi E. Voroshilov, who is 77 and has long been ready to retire.

But the present speculation is due to the fact that Bulganin has never been called upon to pay for the big blunder he made last June. It was then that Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov and Lazar M. Kaganovich tried to overthrow Khrushchev and reinstitute a strong "Stalinist" regime.

At a meeting of the Communist Party Presidium, Bulganin made the mistake of backing the three rebels.

Plot Thwarted
Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, defense minister, saved Khrushchev. At that time, Zhukov was an alternate member of the Presidium, entitled "to speak but not to vote." His weight, as Russia's foremost soldier and the army's leader, thwarted the plot.

Zhukov himself was ousted later, charged with trying to build himself up to succeed Khrushchev. But nothing was done about Bulganin.

Now, it is suggested, the election of the new parliament would give Khrushchev a nice opportunity to take a delayed revenge.

It is all pure speculation, of course, and might or might not work out.

By western standards, this would not seem to be an especially good moment to oust Bulganin. Signed Many Letters.

It is Bulganin who has signed the amazing flood of letters on a "summit" conference, disarmament and the threat of nuclear warfare which the Kremlin has sent to President Eisenhower, the prime ministers of Britain, France, West Germany and other allied and "neutralist" countries all over the world.

If a Western leader were dismissed at such a time, it would be taken for granted that his policy was being repudiated.

Western leaders have made it known that the Bulganin letters have reached the nuisance stage. They have lost all effect. But they have had great impact on neutral countries, and they have made many people in allied countries fearful of war.

However, Russia can not be judged by Western standards. Bulganin's dismissal might mean no change in policy—simply delayed payment for his mistake of last June. Communists can not afford to make such mistakes.

26 Traffic Deaths in Week

SPRINGFIELD — The state Traffic Safety Division reported today there were 26 traffic deaths in Illinois during the past week, compared with 41 in the corresponding week last year.

The division said there were 105 fewer fatalities on the state's highways through March 24, 1958, than through the same date during 1957. The fatality total through Monday this year is 335.

The 26 deaths reported in the past week included two persons who died during the week but were injured in earlier accidents, one each in Adams and Cook counties. The other 24 fatalities were distributed thus: Cook 8, Morgan and Cumberland 2 each, and 1 each in Logan, Pike, Brown, Wayne, Tazewell, Fulton, Kankakee, Adams, Champaign, McHenry, Clark and Madison counties.

Shower Thursday For Fire Victims

A shower will be held Thursday at 7 p. m. at the Ledford Baptist church for the Cecil Flannell family, whose home burned Wednesday, March 19. Any items of clothing or anything for a home would be welcome as the Flannell family lost everything in the fire which occurred while they were gone from home.

Experiments have shown that fish can distinguish between various colors.

There will be lots of shapely dresses seen on Easter Sunday this year. From Harvey Berin's spring collection comes this gray boucle one-piece dress (left) with a two-piece look. Slender inserts of white linen at neck and sleeves look fresh and pretty. The blouson appears (center) in this version by Adele Simpson. Fabric is black-and-white check worsted. Standaway collar is tied with black grosgrain bow. From Ceil Chapman comes this shapely floral cotton print (right) in shades of pink, green, brown and beige. Dress has side-draped skirt and scooped neckline designed to show off jewelry.

Rackets Committee Report Hits Teamster Union Leadership

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Senate Rackets Committee said today that the chief traits of the Teamsters Union leadership are "dishonesty and corruption."

The committee's strong feeling about the Teamsters leadership was reflected in the fact that it devoted most of the second section of its 462-page interim report to the giant union, largest in the nation.

The 12,000-word first installment, issued Monday, covered four other groups investigated by the committee last year and presented its legislative findings.

Hoffa, who ascended to the Teamster presidency under court-approved monitors after his appearance before the committee, was the major target of the report.

The committee charged that the Teamster leaders "crushed democracy within the union's ranks," "rigged elections, hoodwinked and abused their own memberships," and entered into "collusive agreements with management for the purpose of power, money and/or self-aggrandizement."

The five activities which came under the committee's scrutiny included establishment of "phony locals" in New York; gangsterism in Portland, Ore.; violence in Scranton, Pa.; collusion with the garbage industry in New York and Los Angeles, and "organized violence in Tennessee and adjacent states."

Special Session of Legislature Strong Possibility After Primary

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—A special session of the Illinois General Assembly sometime after the April 8 primary appears a strong possibility. More pressure on Gov. William G. Stratton to call one has been urged by the important Cook County Board which wants it to pass an emergency appropriation to meet rising unemployment relief costs.

Board President Daniel Ryan and Board Member John J. Duffy, Chicago, chairman of the Board's Finance Committee, have instructed Raymond M. Hillard, director of the Cook County Welfare Department, to prepare a report which would be the basis for a formal request for a special session. Hillard told the board his department's general assistance fund will be exhausted by September.

Stratton has said he is not adverse to calling a special session if there is justification but indicated that public works construction programming for 1958 is sufficient to absorb much of any unemployment. He said the program provides for spending $400 million for toll and state roads and for welfare and other construction building.

The Governor said he receives many calls for special sessions. Among them was one which would increase the number of weeks for unemployment pay from the present 26 weeks to 39 weeks and to raise the compensation to $45 a week. Another was a request for a special session to broaden the curriculum of Southern Illinois University to include science to strengthen the U. S. in developing its missile program.

Types of Illinois farming are as varied as its crop and live-stock products and the markets for them, according to J. A. Ewing, U. P. State farm statistician. Ewing, writing in the 40th annual State Agriculture Department report, said "because of its central locations and wide range in latitude, Illinois grows crops common to the south as well as to the north."

To illustrate the types of farming in Illinois Ewing quoted from the University of Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station which listed nine principal types. It reveals northeastern Illinois as specialists in dairy farming; northwestern Illinois in mixed livestock raising; western Illinois in livestock and grain; and the rich central area as specializing in cash-grain.

"Cotton is grown on the delta land along the Ohio and Mississippi and winter oats and barley are adapted to the southern third of the state," said Ewing. "Sugar beets, spring wheat and barley—all northern crops are produced in the northern counties with corn, soybeans, oats, winter wheat, tobacco and rice grown everywhere."

"Peaches and apples thrive in the hill country south of Carbon dale on the Calhoun County ridges and elsewhere along the

Robinson Wins Middleweight Title For Fifth Time in Tough Battle With Blood-Smeared Carmen Basilio

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the ring's "miracle man" who fought his heart out to win the middleweight crown for an amazing fifth time, was too exhausted today to decide about a "rubber match" with heroic, half-blinded Carmen Basilio in June.

Robinson, who had to be half-carried out of the Chicago Stadium after recapturing the 160-pound crown from gallant, blood-smeared Carmen, lay listlessly on a bed this morning as he told a press conference:

"He's the toughest guy I ever fought—and I'm too all-in to consider fighting him again now."

He was uncertain whether to continue in the ring or to retire as champion and go into movies.

Promoter Jim Norris said, "I'd be delighted to arrange a third Robinson-Basilio match in June—after their two great fights."

Big Draw in Rubber Match
Many boxing men believe the "rubber match" would draw a million-dollar gate at New York's Yankee Stadium.

Robinson, 37, a 7-5 underdog because he had lost the title to Basilio, 36, of Chittenango, N. Y., on a split decision at Yankee Stadium last Sept. 23, treated 17,976 fans to one of the greatest performances of his 18-year career Tuesday night.

And Basilio with his left eye tightly closed from the 6th round to the finish, made one of the gamiest defenses ever seen in any ring, as he risked the title for the first time in a zig-zag battle that had the fans on their feet in almost every round.

Their genuinely classic battle attracted the second richest indoor gate in history—$351,955 gross and $278,108 net—and it drew a gross theatre-TV gate throughout the U. S. and Canada of approximately $1,500,000 paid by more than 400,000 spectators.

30 Per Cent Each
Sugar Ray and Carmen, receiving 30 per cent each of all net receipts, will wind up with at least $188,000 apiece.

Robinson, weighing 159½ pounds to Carmen's 153, was much more aggressive than in their September bout, and his long left jabs, left hooks, and right uppercuts several times hurt the rugged on-farmer son, who in 72 fights had never been stopped and has been floored only once.

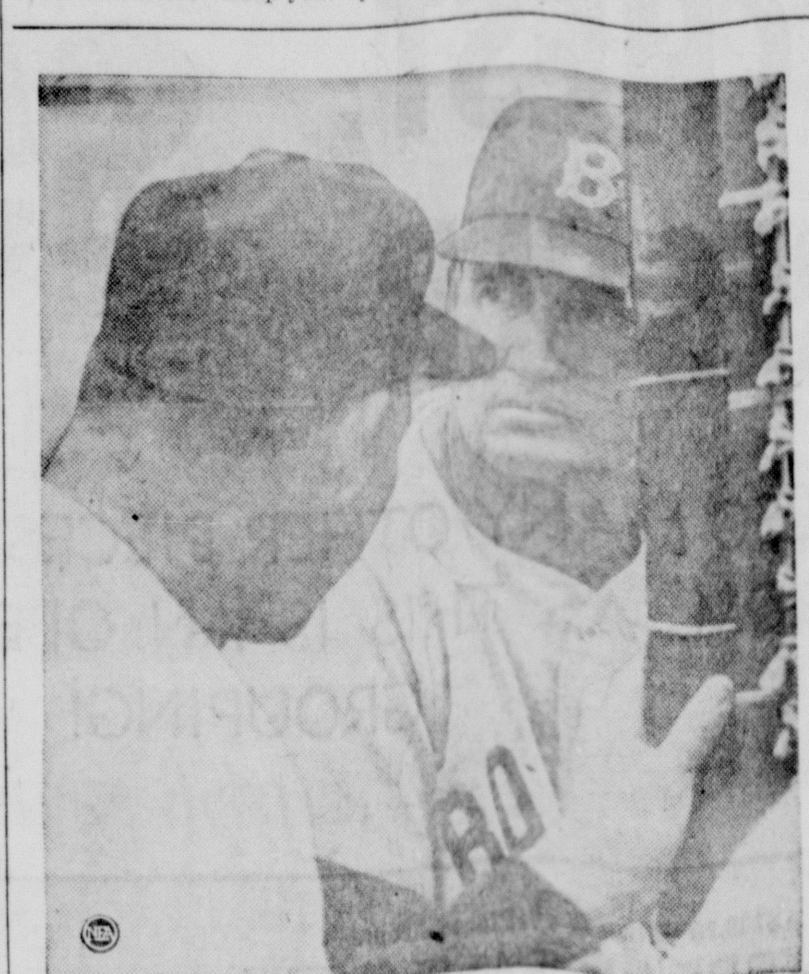

Because of Ray's aggressiveness and Basilio's natural wade-in style, the fight quickly developed into an ultra-rough match in which each tried to batter the other with forbidden "rabbit punches" to the back of the head, belt one another when referee Sikora was breaking them, and butt at times with the head.

At the finish, after Basilio had been on the verge of groggy land in the 15th round, and two judges, voting on a five-point must basis favored Robinson: John Bray, 71-64, and Spike McAdams, 72-64. But referee Sikora had Basilio ahead, 69-66.

No Debt
MONROE, Mass. (U.P.)—This Western Massachusetts town (pop. 174) recently became debt free—one of the few communities in the nation that doesn't owe anyone a penny. A ceremony was held when final payment was made on a $22,000 note issued in 1935 when the Monroe Water District was formed.

HANGING FROM THE RAFTERS—A fashion show prior to an exhibition game in Sarasota has Catcher Sammy White of the Red Sox hanging on. Model Mary Ferri wears a chemise dress. The other Soxers are Shortstop Billy Klaus, left, and Catcher Haywood Sullivan. Keep your eye on your work, men.

HUNGRY—When you're a rookie trying to break in with the New York Yankees you play it like Fritz Brickell, who is straining to the limit here to beat a routine play at first base in exhibition game against Reds. First Baseman George Crowe already has ball, but Brickell, an outfielder, hustles to the last step.

GREAT MAN—Ted Williams warily looks past Sox Manager Pinky Higgins as the two talk over Ted's bad ankle behind the batting cage at Sox' Sarasota, Fla., camp.

Sisler Hurls Five Perfect Innings in Red Sox Victory; Dodgers Blank Cardinals

By United Press
Dave Sisler seems ready at last to carry on in the tradition of one of baseball's most famous families.

The son of Hall of Famer George Sisler, a 500-pitcher for the Boston Red Sox in his first two big league seasons, Dave is the hottest hurler on the grapefruit circuit. He's pitched nine innings of no-hit ball and retired the last 27 batters he's faced in order. The only man to reach base on him this spring—the first batter he faced—was safe on an error.

Sisler turned in five more perfect innings Tuesday when the Red Sox beat the Milwaukee Braves, 4-3. The Red Sox won by rallying for three runs in the sixth inning against Bob Buhl after the Braves built a 3-1 lead at the expense of Tom Brewer.

Don Drysdale continued his fine spring showing when he hurled six shut-out innings in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 8-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bob Purkey, a key winter acquisition from the Pittsburgh Pirates, became the first Cincinnati pitcher to go nine innings this spring when he beat the Washington Senators, 3-1, on five hits.

The Chicago Cubs walloped the San Francisco Giants, 15-4, the Baltimore Orioles scored an 8-5 win over the Cleveland Indians, the Philadelphia Phillies rallied to down the New York Yankees, 5-4, and the Kansas City Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers, 8-5, in other games.

Other camp news: Ted Kluszewski, question mark Pirate first baseman, is scheduled to play his first exhibition game today against the Dodgers. The Indians added Billy Moran, hitting .319 this spring, to their roster. He's a second baseman, apparently slated to succeed Bobby Avila unless the Narkleski-Richardson trade with New York goes through. The White Sox optioned Dick Ditsa, Joe Dahlke and Chuck Lindstrom and the Tigers optioned Ron Rozman, young right-hander who had a 15-1 record at Charleston last year.

Hawks Only One Game from Western Title

St. Louis Races To Scoring Marks In 145-101 Victory

DETROIT (U.P.)—The St. Louis Hawks today were only a game away from the championship of the western division of the National Basketball Assn. after racing to a half a dozen new scoring marks over the hapless Detroit Pistons here Tuesday night, 145-101.

The Hawks now hold a commanding 3-1 lead over the stumbling Pistons in their best four of seven playoff series and can wrap up the divisional title Thursday night when they meet Detroit on their home court in St. Louis.

Detroit was never in the game after two minutes were gone in the first quarter and they held a 5-3 lead. St. Louis vaulted past them to a 40-20 first quarter gap on the strength of a fast break that left the sluggish Pistons almost breathless.

The Hawks had a phenomenal 53.3 shooting average during the first half, when they drove to a 72-44 lead, with many field goals coming on layup shots against the outdistanced Detroiters.

The biggest record to tumble during the game was the NBA playoff scoring mark. The 145 Hawk points eliminated the winning team mark set by Minneapolis against St. Louis in a 133-75 Laker victory on March 19, 1956.

Seven other records fell during the game—most of them minor ones related to the major scoring record.

The St. Louis scoring came from all 10 players with seven of the group winding up in double figures. The really big men were Cliff Hagan, who had 28 points, Bob Pettit, with 23, and Jack Coleman with 22.

Vaughn, Lovelace Selected to News-Gazette Squad

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (U.P.)—The Champaign News-Gazette Tuesday night named six players to the first squad of its 1958 All-State basketball team because there were so many good high school stars this season.

Charlie Vaughn, 18, Tamms high school senior, led the first squad. In four years of competition, Vaughn scored a total of 3,358 points in his 105 games.

Also on the first string were Doug Mills, Galesburg, Jay Lovelace, Carbondale, Frank Burks, Chicago Wells, Don Nelson, Rock Island and Jerry Curless, VIT. All are seniors.

The second team consists of Dave Downey, Canton; Mike Woods, Fulton; George Wilson, Chicago Marshall; Tom Potter, Moline, and Bill Cacciatore, Rockford West.

On the third squad were Dave Luechtefeld, Okawville; Tom Book, Aviston; Bob Warnock, Chicago De LaSalle; Mel Romani, Washington, and Joe Scanlon, Chicago St. Rita.

The all-stars will be guests of the News-Gazette in Champaign-Urbana at a banquet next Saturday.

Evers to Give Up Cage Coaching

CENTRALIA, Ill. (U.P.)—Jimmie Evers, 47, who succeeded the late Arthur Trout as basketball coach at Centralia High School in 1950, says he will give up his basketball coaching duties after this year.

Evers will continue as athletic director and football and track coach.

His cage teams have an overall record of 164 wins and 68 losses.

Gratitude
NORWALK, Conn. (U.P.)—A grateful skunk, after being lifted by the tail by Mrs. Carl Ebert and having a glass bottle encircling its neck smashed by a policeman, rewarded its rescuers. It scampered to a nearby woods—leaving no lingering after-effects.

The Hudson River is 306 miles long.
